A burglar entered a house last night in Milwaukee, USA. He decided to take a television and a mobile phone.

Then he decided he was hungry and wanted something to eat so he cooked some steak and chips.

Then he wanted to check his e-mails. So he logged onto the computer and checked his e-mails.

After that the burglar was finally ready to leave the house.

Two hours later, the owners of the house, Mr and Mrs Spencer, arrived home.

When they entered the house they were shocked when they noticed the dirty plates on the table.

Then Mr Spencer noticed that the computer was still on.

He looked at the website. The burglar's name was there so he called the police.

Later that evening the police arrested the burglar.
